FICTION

Sinners of Sanction County: Stories Charles Dodd White

Sinners of Sanction County is one of the best story collections to come out of the American South in recent times. Writing in a spare, poetic style that fairly crackles with energy, Charles Dodd White makes his mark as a major new talent as he masterfully explores the raw beauty and pathos of life among tough people caught in bad situations." ~Donald Ray Pollock, author of The Devil All The Time and Knockemstiff
160 pgs. $17.00

The Free Farm: A Novel Larry Smith

"Forbidden love. Counter-culture. The shadow of Vietnam. Sexual revolution. Social unrest. Marijuana and LSD. In this intriguing coming-of-age novel by Larry Smith, we journey back to America's turbulent late 60s and early 70s .... in this realistic yet often surprising and tender novel." - Laura Treacy Bentley,

Nominated for Appalachian Book of the Year

The Long River Home A Novel Larry Smith

A family saga set in the heart of Appalachia

"It's all here, set, in the grand tradition of Wendell Berry and Conrad Richter, against the Ohio landscape: its hills and its rivers, its frontier beginnings and its later industrial development. We care about the place and its people." -Annabel Thomas, author of Stone Man Mountain

Paper 240 pgs. $16 /hard cover $22

Riders on the Storm A Novel

Susan Streeter Carpenter

Set in the Midwest's radical 1960's
It's a powerful novel for our times.

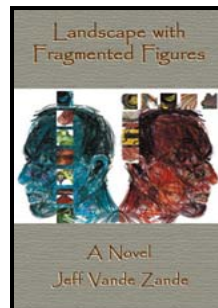

"I've always wondered why the sixties are so hard to write about. But Susan Streeter Carpenter proves it can be done with equal parts insight, generosity, and honesty. Her evocation of the time is among the best I've seen." -Karen Joy Fowler, author of The Jane Austen Book Club
404 pgs. $18.00

Learning How Stories, Yarns & Tales Richard Hague

22 Stories, Yarns, & Tales, rich in character, voice, and landscape

"The fiction in this collection is as comforting as it is challenging, as familiar as it is surprising, and, in all of the aspects that matter to the serious reader of literature, it is thoroughly satisfying." -Chris Holbrook, author of Upheaval
216 pgs. $18.00

Landscape With Fragmented Figures

Poetry

Reply to an Eviction Notice Selected Poems

By Robert Flanagan

Flanagan wins me with his rich humor and compassion, his keen ear and sharp eye, his technical skill, his ability to slam a poem shut with a crash, his way with simile and metaphor. Here is a rich, long overdue gathering of Flanagan's finest and most insightful poems, the harvest of four decades. Open this book and you just might find it irresistible.

The Big Book of Daniel: Collected Poems of Daniel Thompson

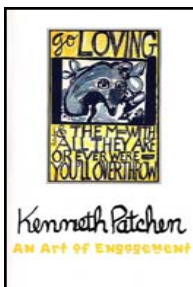

Edited with a foreword
 by Maj Ragain

“Daniel Thompson was a man who, as Whitman said of himself, was not contained between his hat and his boots.... Daniel's last gift to us, his life's work, what he gathered in his sixty-nine years, over three hundred pages of poems, is this book, this big jug of honey, which you have in your hands. Taste and see.”
